LUDHIANA: MUrgency, a mobile application for speedy help in case of a medical emergency, was launched here on Tuesday.

Through this app, in a single tap, the nearest trained doctor, nurse or paramedic (medical responder) will come to the rescue of the patient and provide medical help, developers claimed.

“MUrgency has partnered with 100 hospitals in city. It is offering medical care at home — doctor, nurse, patient attendant, physiotherapist, and even ambulances can be booked easily through the app,” Sweta Mangal, director, MUrgency Inc, said.

“The most popular feature of the app, Ask a Doctor, allows you to chat with an MUrgency network doctor, and get a reply within 15 minutes, 24x7, free of cost,” Mangal added.

“People can use the app for small medical problems such as fever, upset stomach and even for more serious ailments,” she said.
